Helen, fifteen, has a job at the ice cream stand during the summer. She has to be at work by 11:30 a.m. in a clean, pressed uniform (personal responsibility). When she arrives, the assistant manager gives her a list of duties that must be done (taking directions and supervision). Often Helen will get telephone orders from people who will stop by on their lunch hour. She must record the order accurately, and tell the customer the correct cost of the order (communicating clearly, writing, and math skills). Sometimes she has to make a special order, so she must read the recipe card and mix the correct proportions (reading and math skills). Every once in a while, a customer is given the wrong order or is not satisfied with their ice cream. Helen must solve the problem in a helpful way to satisfy the customer (ability to get along with others). Helen must clean up before she goes home. She misses activities with friends because of her job, but Helen likes the money her job provides (personal responsibility).

Options for the Future

Ask students to think of a list of future options in terms of education, training, and careers. Present the following options and discuss them in detail:

A. Quit high school

1. Why do students quit high school?
2. How many of you have considered quitting school? What has prevented your doing so?
3. Let's talk about specific cases of acquaintances who have quit school.
 - a. What are they doing?
 - b. Where are they living?
 - c. Are they self-supporting? If so, how are they earning their income? If not, how might they become self-supporting?
4. What are some reasons for remaining in school until after graduation

B. Graduation from high school.

1. Relax (do not work, attend vocational-technical school, nor attend college)
 - a. How could this be beneficial?
 - b. How could this be a hindrance?
2. Get married.
 - a. How could this be beneficial?
 - b. How could this be hindrance?
 - c. What things should be considered before deciding to marry immediately after graduation?
3. Find a job.
 - a. What type of job will you be seeking?
 - b. What are some jobs available to high school graduates?
 - c. What are some jobs that require education beyond high school (either college or vocational-technical education)?
 - d. Can most jobs available to high school graduates be obtained by college graduates?
 - e. What specific skills or characteristics do you have that would be of value to an employer?
 - f. What jobs are currently held by acquaintances who have graduated from high school?
 - g. What jobs are currently held by acquaintances that have completed some education or training beyond high school?
 - h. Could you be limiting job opportunities by finding a job right after high school?
4. Join the military
 - a. Due to the all-volunteer concept used by the military, most branches have become more selective in their recruitment of people. How might this affect you?
 - b. What skills are required for acceptance into the military?
 - c. Are jobs that are of interest to you available in the military?
 - d. What are the educational opportunities provided by the military?
 - e. In order to enter the military, one must possess a high school diploma and pass the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB), a military aptitude test. Some individuals fail the test on their first attempt. How could you improve your chances for passing the test?
5. Enter an apprenticeship.

- a. What is an apprenticeship?
 - b. What is a labor union?
 - c. Which labor union is most likely to offer an apprenticeship program of interest to you?
Where is the nearest local of that labor union located?
 - d. How does one apply for an apprenticeship?
 - e. What are the advantages of apprenticeship training versus attending a vocational-technical school?
6. Attend a vocational-technical school.
- a. Which schools are you considering and where are they located?
 - b. What should one consider in selecting a school?
Accreditation entrance requirements
Length of program tuition
Housing/meals transportation
Local cost of living
 - c. Which programs are offered at the schools you are considering?
 - d. Does the area of training being considered coincide with your career goals?
 - e. Is the area of training being considered required for job entry or advancement?
 - f. Does the school offer job placement services? If so, to what degree of success?
7. Attend a junior college.
- a. What are possible advantages of attending a community college rather than a four-year college or university?
 - b. Which schools are you considering?
 - c. What should one consider in selecting a school? Should the same consideration apply when choosing a vocational-technical school?
 - d. Does the area of study being considered coincide with your career goals?
 - e. Do you plan to continue your education beyond junior college? If so, where? Will all credits earned at the junior college be accepted by the college or university?
8. Attend a four-year college or university.
- a. Which area of study are you considering?
 - b. Which schools are you considering and where are they located?
 - c. What should one consider in selecting a school? Should the same consideration be given when selecting a vocational-technical school or junior college?
 - d. Does the area of study being considered coincide with your career goals?
 - e. Do you plan to continue your education in a graduate school program? If so, in what area of study? Where do you plan to attend?
 - f. Have you looked into financial aid options?

YOUR COURSES MAKE YOUR FUTURE

Lesson Assessment (acceptable evidence of what learners will know and be able to do as a result of this lesson):

Students share their plans to take or not to take a gender specific course and give reasons for their decisions.

Lesson Preparation

Essential Questions: Is it OK for school courses to be male-only or female only. If so, is it legal and ethical?
Should schools encourage students to take courses based on gender (e.g., females take sewing; males take shop)?
Engagement (Hook): Ask: Who plans to enroll in (or has already taken) a family and consumer science courses?
Who plans to enroll in (or has already taken) a course such as welding or woodworking?

Students answer the question: What do you think is the most important consideration when making career choices?

Lesson Preparation

Essential Questions: How have careers and roles changed for males and females in the last fifteen years?
Can gender limit your career choices?

Engagement (Hook): Before group begin list four roles or careers usually assumed by females and four usually assumed by males in the past fifteen years. Ask students to identify which roles are assumed by female and males in today's society.

Students discuss how they felt about the role reversals and share whether they are willing to consider jobs that are stereotyped for a particular gender.

INTERVIEWS: ROLE REVERSAL CAREERS

Reporter: Not too long ago, only men were reporters. As you can see, things have changed. Today we are going to explore some careers through interviews with people who, like me, have made career choices in fields which at one time were stereotyped or considered to be only suitable for males or females.

I would like you to meet Ms. Carpenter. Ms. Carpenter has been a carpenter for the past eleven years. Ms. Carpenter why did you decide to be a carpenter?

Ms. Carpenter: I always liked working with my hands but it wasn't until I bought a house that needed some repairs when I discovered I could make things and do repairs. My friends were impressed and liked what I did so much that they told other people about me and because I could use the money, I started doing jobs for pay.

Reporter: What is the hardest thing about being a carpenter?

Ms. Carpenter: Hauling large pieces of wood and dealing with men in the lumber yards. Some men seem to resent having a woman doing what they consider to be a man's job.

Reporter: Thank you Ms. Carpenter. Now, I would like you to meet Mr. Nurse. Can you tell us why you made the decision to become a nurse? Isn't nursing considered to be a woman's job?

Mr. Nurse: I think my decision to be a nurse came about because I wanted to do something to help people, something that mattered and counted for something. There are less than ten percent male nurses in nursing schools now, but that number is expected to grow. I think people sometimes have a hang-up about males entering so-called female professions, but I think people should do what they want to do. You are the one who needs to be satisfied with your own career.

Reporter: Thank you Mr. Nurse. Next, we will speak to Ms. Jockey. Ms. Jockey has been a jockey for six years.

Ms. Jockey: Yes, I have been a jockey for six years and have been riding horses since I could walk. My parents have helped me turn as childhood interest into a very exciting and well-paying career. I am the perfect size to be a jockey because I am small. Most jockeys are men and some of them don't like women jockeys. Why shouldn't women be able to have a career they want?

Reporter: Thank you. Our last interview is with Mr. Secretary. He has been a secretary with a large corporation for eight years. Tell us something about your career as a secretary.

Mr. Secretary: In high school, I took some accounting and computer courses and enjoyed them very much. I got "A's" in all my business courses. I didn't want to go to college after graduation from high school, so I decided to go to a business school to learn how to be an office worker. I have worked my way up from the mail room to a responsible position as a secretary. I can go much higher with this company if I continue to do well. People make remarks about me being a male secretary, but I am happy with my choice and I feel that is very important.

THINKING ABOUT TAKING A NON-TRADITIONAL COURSE?

Purpose: To help students recognize their reluctance to enroll in non-traditional classes (i.e., courses traditionally taken by males or females) and to encourage them to choose appropriate classes.

THINGS OF VALUE

Everything has some sort of value. In our country, we often think of money as a way of measuring worth. Something may be worth fifty cent, one hundred dollars, or one hundred thousand dollars. If we lived in India, the value of something may be determined by cattle.

We also place importance on things because they fill a need. For example, we place a priority on food, clothing, and a roof over our heads. These things are essential. A friend who comes to see us in the hospital is important to us because of the concern shown by that friend.

Many things of value cannot be seen or measured. Honesty is one of those. If you are honest and if you want others around you to be honest, then honesty is something you value. Things of value change as we grow and learn more about ourselves. Most things of value are learned from family, friends, and school. Our things of value are often different from those of our friends. This may cause conflict and you may have to make choices. For example, your friends may ask you to do something that you don't like to do or something that your parents do not approve. You will have to decide if you should be loyal to your friends or do what you feel is right. When things you value conflict with your friends, how do you decide what to do? The following activity will help you identify what is important to you.

WHAT IS IMPORTANT TO ME?

Name _____ Date _____

What is most important to you? There is no right or wrong answer. Knowing more about what is important to you will help you know yourself better.

With a partner, read the following lists of words. Be sure that you understand each word. Look up the words with which you are unfamiliar. It is not necessary to write the definitions; just understand them.

1. Select three ideas that you think would make the world a better place. Mark them with a "WM" for "World-Me." Then tell your partner why you chose those ideas. Listen very closely as your partner tells you his or her choices. Mark his or her important issues with a "WP" for "World-Partner."
2. Go back through the list and identify 10 ideas that are important to you as an individual in everyday life. Mark those with "ED-M" for Every Day-Me. Then tell your partner why you chose those ideas. Listen very closely as your partner tells you his or her choices. Mark his or her important issues with a "ED-P" for "Every Day-Partner."
3. When each of you has discussed your choices, join 3 other pairs and introduce your partners by name to the group; explain of your partner's choices for the world and 3 of your partner's personal choices to the class.
4. Contribute to class conversation by volunteering to tell about ideas you and your partner have in common and those which are different. Listen for similarities and differences in others' ideas.

Sample Questions to Ask on Visits to College Campuses

The purpose of these questions is to help you organize your college exploration. Remember, there is no one college for you: there are many where you can meet your educational goals and be happy! Look for learning climates that you feel will challenge you and fit your style. Be sure to talk to students and admissions personnel. Answers to the following questions may be found in college handbooks.

The Academic Environment

1. Which areas of study are emphasized, and how do they fit your field of interest and ability? Is the college strong in science, fine arts, the humanities, your areas? How many students are in your areas of interest, and how does this number compare with other fields?
2. Which courses are included in a typical freshman program? What are the sizes of these classes? Do students select all their courses or are there core requirements?
3. How many students do not return after the freshman year?
4. How intense is the academic atmosphere (average hours spent studying, library full on weekends, average SAT I, ACT scores, etc.)?
5. What are the library's hours? Would you want to study there? Where do most students study?
6. Are members of the faculty and administration easily accessible to students?
7. Do many students study abroad? What percentage continues on to graduate school?
8. Would high school credits in some advanced courses qualify you for advanced placement? What scores are needed for credit? Do they vary in departments?

The Students

1. What are some initial reactions of freshman when they first came to the campus? What do juniors say are the strengths and weaknesses of the college?
2. Which special interest group (clubs, publications, teams) in your field are active on campus?
3. What is the ethnic, religious, racial makeup of the student body? Where is the location of a church/synagogue of your choice?
4. What social and academic benefits would you receive from membership in a fraternity or sorority? What percentage of students belongs to a fraternity or a sorority?
5. What percentage of students is from other states or countries?
6. How is the advising system organized and who are the advisors?

The Campus

1. Is the college a part of the surrounding community or set apart from it as a self-contained unit? If this is a rural area, how far is it to the nearest town and how do students get there?
2. What method of transportation would you use to get around campus? Walking? Car? Bus? Bike?

A Guide to a Pleasant Interview

Listen when the interviewer introduces himself or herself. Remember his or her name.

Sit comfortably, but don't slouch.

Keep your hands still; don't fidget.

Don't place your belongings on the interview's desk.

Never criticize a former employer.

Know the type of job for which you are applying, but indicate that you are flexible.

Let the interviewer begin the interview.

Answer questions briefly and completely.

Do not interrupt the interviewer.

Be prepared to tell the interviewer about your family, school, hobbies, and activities.

If you have worked before, be prepared to give a brief and accurate description of your previous jobs.

State your qualifications, but don't exaggerate.

Be sure you understand the duties involved in the job, the hours you will be expected to work, and the salary.

If the interviewer doesn't indicate when you will hear from him or her, ask if you may call in a day or two to learn of his or her decision.

Thank the interviewer for his or her courtesy.
